James Madison College
Zinman Scholarship Fund Application Form

This endowment fund is designed to support students undertaking individual (or small group) projects of excellence under the guidance of a faculty member in James Madison College. It is intended to support JMC students interested in extending their learning beyond the classroom. All projects must involve a teaching or mentoring relationship between a faculty member(s) and student(s). Group projects with multiple students are encouraged as are ambitious projects above and beyond normal coursework. All projects must culminate in a product suitable to the project, such as a scholarly paper, a film or other work of art, a research report, or a policy memorandum.
