Anthony Leiserowitz is an expert on public opinion about climate change and the environment. His research investigates the psychological, cultural, and political factors that influence environmental attitudes, policy support, and behavior. He has served as a consultant to the John F. Kennedy School of Government (Harvard University), the United Nations Development Program, the Gallup World Poll, and the World Economic Forum.

JMC 11th Annual Alumni Career Day - Alumni Help Needed!
Saturday, February 15, 2014
Case Hall, MSU
If you are interested in serving on a panel, please contact Jaimie Hutchison for more information or to volunteer. Panel topics will be: Government, Non-Profit/Education, Law, International, Intelligence, and Business Careers. This event is one of the largest events of the year (attracting over 150+ students and 40+ alumni), and is in collaboration with JMC Alumni Association, Student Senate and the Career Services Office.

Professor Richard Zinman Retirement Update
Message from JMC Dean Garnett: "It is my deep regret to let you know that we are postponing the March 2014 event in honor of Professor Zinman because his wife Beth is seriously ill. Our thoughts are with the Zimmans at this time." Please contact Kim Allan or Rocky Beckett if you have thoughts to share with Professor Zinman or with questions. Thank you for your understanding.

COLLEGE NEWS

The JMScene Fall 2013 Issue is Available Online
This issue features alumnus David Schrumpf, who has made Madison a beneficiary of his retirement savings. Said Schrumpf, "I really appreciate the depth, breadth, and quality of education I received at James Madison College." The issue also includes summaries of alumni, faculty, and student news from the past academic year.

The MSU International Relations Organization (MSUIRO) received the Best Large Delegation Award earlier this month at the Boston Area Model United Nations (BarMUN), the first time MSUIRO has received this award. Congratulations to the 10 JMC and MSU award winners: Best Delegates: Anzar Abbas, Chris Bourdganis, Sam Herzing, Peter Sattler, and Kelsey Weyhing; Outstanding Delegates: Didi Bibi and Cody Schulz; Honorable Mention, Jessica Arnold; Verbal Commendation: Griffin Graham and Matt McLaughlin.

James Madison College is pleased to introduce new and continuing faculty serving in tenure stream positions, visiting scholars, and visiting faculty. See the JMScene Newsletter or jmc.msu.edu for details.

Uniquely James Madison College
James Madison College at MSU offers sophisticated multidisciplinary programs in the social sciences founded on a model of liberal education and designed to prepare students for law school, graduate study, decision-making roles in public and private enterprise, and careers in government, media, politics, social services, public administration, education, business, and the foreign service. Students examine how public policy problems are identified, analyzed, and resolved in the US and globally. It is an unusual, exciting, innovative place where students and scholars examine and debate important public affairs issues.
